- Andrew is a great teacher - explanation of concepts, going over the quizzes and exam questions - everything is to the highest standard. Other teachers should take note.
- Andrew is by far the best teacher I have had at LSE (the concurence is not fierce unfortunately).
- As he has studied the curse before, he knows what we need to know very well and is very good at effectively communicating that. My best teacher by far.
- Best clas teacher
- Best teacher I've ever had at LSE. Super clear and organised classes
- He is incredibly interactive, simplifies complicated topics and uses incredibly useful working out on his iPad. Topics are made clear with his use of pictures and how he breaks down each question. He also outlines the important parts and relates them to exam technique
- He is very good at explaining things in a clear, simple and understandable way.
- I cannot even begin to describe to you the joys of Andrew's teaching. He is extremely organised, well prepared and handles every single lesson with remarkable diligence and demonstrated passion for imparting knowledge to his students. I would normally write just a few words for surveys like this - but the impact Andrew's teaching has had on my motivation to do well in microeconomics, as well as the impact on my grades, has compelled me to write this much!! He is such a good teacher - I would really recommend that he trains other teachers in the economics department— including macroeconomics and first year courses (this would really improve teaching standards in the department!)
- I like the drawings.
- Interactive class which does not allow students to lose their concentration.
- Really well prepared, clear evidence that he has made his course notes to facilitate class work
- Such a good teacher, such clear explanations.
- Teacher really good at explaining concepts really clearly and enhancing understanding!
- Very good explanation of concepts and made the classes engaging. By far the best teacher I've ever had at LSE
- best class I have had at LSE so far, very structured classes, clear explanations, using an iPad as the method of demonstration is very helpful as it is easy to talk through different scenarios
- he is very good at explaining concepts in a very organised way.
- he made sure everyone understood the materials covered in class
- very detail and well structure notes and explanation. Greatly improve my grade.
